WORD IMMENSE ALONG WITH BAPTIST

Required 25 Years to Complete Task and Old Fashioned Words Are Often Eliminated; Catholics Plan Sending Automobile Chapel Into Southwest; English Cleric Would Blow Up Seminaries.

The new edition of the Bible, in which modern words appear and disputed meanings are decided in ways to suit Baptist theological views, has been 25 years preparing. As long ago as 1883, at a Baptist convention held at Saratoga Springs, this revision was proposed, and a tentative organization formed, named the Bible union to secure funds for the revision and publication. A leading spirit in the task was Rev. A. J. Rowland, for many years the head of the American Baptist Publication society, and to that society was assigned the task of bringing out the translation when completed. The money to pay the cost has been raised, much of it with difficulty, by public subscription, and chiefly from Baptists. The foremost scholars in Europe, tending the work of translation and revision were Prof. Barnard C. Taylor, the Crozier Theological seminary, Prof. J. H. Sampey, of the Southern Baptist seminary at Louisville; Prof. Ira M. Price, of the University of Chicago, and the late President of the same university, Prof. T. J. Conant's earlier work in the Pentateuch was used by Prof. Taylor, the latter also revising the books of Job, Joshua, Ruth, First and Second Samuel and the Psalms and Proverbs. Prof. Sampey's work was wholly in the Old Testament. President Harper engaged in the work while ill, his task being a revision of Isaiah and the minor prophets. The object of the revision was to secure a text that will be faithful to the original, especially as Baptists hold the original to be in the Old Testament. This late archbishop was more generally known outside of his church than most cardinals because of his great grasp of the Italian language. He was the librarian of the Holy Roman church. He was in his 89th year. With a majority of 10 Italians in the college it is seen that pope Pius X. follows, as did his predecessors, the conservative policy, so that any talk at this time about sacrificing the Italian and creating large numbers of American, English or German cardinals is idle. It is predicted that not more than five cardinals will be created in February, if so many, and there are not a few who think that no consistory will be held at that time.

MAY POSTPONE THE CATHOLIC CONSISTORY
The Sacred college of cardinals, from which a new Pope is chosen when such course becomes necessary, is now reduced to 48 of whom 15 are Italians. This evening counts Cardinal Falcioni an Italian, as of course, he is, although a naturalized American citizen. He is now a member of the Curia, or governing body of the church in Rome, and will not return to this country. In the election of a new pope he will be reckoned with Italian. The reduction in number in the college has been rapid of late. The last death is that of cardinal Capelatti, archbishop of Capri, who died last week. This late archbishop was more generally known outside of his church than most cardinals because of his great grasp of the Italian language. He was the librarian of the Holy Roman church. He was in his 89th year. With a majority of 10 Italians in the college it is seen that pope Pius X. follows, as did his predecessors, the conservative policy, so that any talk at this time about sacrificing the Italian and creating large numbers of American, English or German cardinals is idle. PERILS OF KOREAN PASTORS ARE SUBJECT OF DISPUTE
Rev. Dr. Wilton Merle Smith, of New York, just back from Japan and Korea, and Methodist bishop Harris, of Korea, met last night in a room at the Methodist foreign board meeting, but hastening back to the far east at once, after directly opposite views upon their own confessions, but that these confessions, wrung from the prisoners by torture, were afterwards repudiated by all. He calls the confessions gross miscarriages of justice, a blot upon Japan's national honor. He talked with physicians who stated some of the pastors for their tortures. He found Japanese self sufficient and proud, and believes them to be land grabbers from China, possibly from Mexico. He says they are land hungry.

Bishop Harris flatly contradicts all of these reports. To the Methodist ministers of New York, he personally and publicly stated, within a week, that he directly discovered the plot, and to its surprise discovered the part of Christians in it.

SENTENCE SERMONS IN PULPITS OF EL PASO

"Repentance is not a matter of words only, but of deeds; not a matter of sentiment, but of the heart and of the life."—Rev. Henry Easter, of the Church of St. Clement.

"It was not the invasion of the Huns or Gauls that weakened the mistress of the seven hills. It was the internal corruption, the loss of manhood and womanhood of the Roman people that caused this great empire to crumble."—Rev. C. W. Webb, of the Trinity Methodist church.

"The church holds the balance of power in America today. If it would muster its forces and charge, there is not a nefarious institution in all the land but that would be utterly routed."—Rev. A. E. Boyd, of the Highland Park Baptist church.

"Christ stands at the threshold of the temple of our lives, with the outer court of the body's appetites, its lower court of the mind's motives and purpose, and its innermost soul, known only to self and God. Need he cry, 'Take these things hence, make not my father's house a house of merchandise.'—Rev. E. C. Morgan, of the Highland Park Methodist church.

"Our love to Christ is going to find its most practical expression in our duty to the church, which is his body, the pillar and ground of the truth, whose foundation stones were cemented with the blood which a cruel and shameful crucifixion wrung from his veins."—Rev. J. F. Williams, of the First Baptist church.

"One of the marvels of sanctified wisdom was that our state mission board should have laid out the work of the whole year, had collected and expended $125,000 in its prosecution and then wound up the work with just $50 to the good."—Rev. R. T. Hanks, of the Calvary-Houston Square Baptist church.

"God's true servants are the faithful, self-sacrificing men and women who stand ready to give their lives, if necessary, in defense of the gospel."—Rev. Ed L. Milligan, of the East El Paso Baptist church.

"The celebration of home mission week has broadened our scope of the service to be rendered, emphasized the importance of union and taught us the method of approach."—Rev. P. J. Rice, of the First Christian church.

"Some day our name will be stricken from the roll of the earthly living and people will say, 'He is no more' they will whisper, 'He is dead.' But in the dawn of a new morning God's shining angel shall make a new name upon the scroll to which we shall ever answer present in the roll call of heaven, present with the Lord."—Rev. J. E. Abbott, of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

"At this time of national thanksgiving let us not fail to pray that the divine guidance which has brought us this far in safety and honor may be graciously continued during the years to come, for concord and amity with other nations and for righteousness and peace in all our ways."—Rev. Kenneth Brown, of the East El Paso Presbyterian church.

"More people are guilty of the sin of ingratitude than any other."—Rev. Herman G. Porter, of the First Methodist church.

"To confess a sin is to strengthen it. Gratitude expressed is gratitude confirmed."—Rev. E. L. Overstreet, of the First Presbyterian church.

"When God made the axe swim for Elisha, he proved his interest in every day difficulties. Has he made iron to swim for us?"—Rev. E. H. Combs, of the St. Paul's Lutheran church.

"A merely moral life has no saving value. Even burning lamps will go out on the final day if not filled with the oil of faith."—Rev. P. G. Birkmann, of the Zion Lutheran church.

"Our Thanksgiving, individually, can only be, not for the things that have come to us, but for the use we have made of them, and, nationally, not for material progress, but for progress toward manhood and womanhood."—Rev. Miles Hanson, of the First Congregational church.

"In the affairs of this life, men generally recognize and act upon the importance of opportunity. Our text today announces an opportunity as superior to every other as the immortal soul is superior to the body, as eternity is superior to time, as heaven is superior to earth."—Rev. H. P. Bond, of the East El Paso Methodist church.

a plot to murder this governor general. The plot having been unearthed further, Protestant Christian pastors of Korea, were found to be involved. Indeed, two Methodists were in the number, and even the name of bishop Harris, some other Americans, got mixed up. The total number of pastors arraigned was 115, and a few hundred were indicted. The cases have been appealed. The pastors were heads of some of the largest congregations in Korea.

Rev. Wilton Merle Smith, a leading New York pastor and member of the Presbyterian foreign board, says the pastors were convicted upon their own confessions, but that these confessions, wrung from the prisoners by torture, were afterwards repudiated by all. ENGLISH CLERIC SAYS HE WOULD DYNAMITE SEMINARIES

Canon Henley Henson, the famous English Anglican cleric, lately rector of the parliamentary church, St. Margaret's, London, but now to become dean of Durham, has just closed a tour of American universities, and has returned to his native land, and has written a book, called "The Christian Seminary," in which he says that the Christian seminaries in America are a blot upon the national honor, and that they are a danger to the country. He says that the seminaries are a danger to the country, and that they are a blot upon the national honor. He says that the seminaries are a danger to the country, and that they are a blot upon the national honor.

The canon thought the great blot upon American moral standards is the divorce mill. He professed to be shocked by headlines in the newspapers announcing the granting of divorces, and declared that he was determined to do his duty. He said that the divorce mill was a blot upon the national honor, and that it was a danger to the country.

Two organized movements are now soliciting money to send to the suffering from the Russian war. Both of them come from the churches, and both have already raised funds in some amounts. Both of them are also collecting money for the Russian war.

Mr. Russell Sage, has contributed $5,000, and a total of about $10,000 has already gone to Constantinople. It is not to be used for the Turkish exclusively, but for sufferers on both sides. Especially is relief to be extended to the Armenian scholars in Constantinople. Turkey should not be a danger to them. In these schools, particularly those in Constantinople, it is said, have been sent to the Balkan and all parts of the countries of the allies.

The other movement appealing to Americans for funds, with New York and Washington headquarters, is composed of women of prominence who organized upon the war. It is called the "Women's War Relief Fund," and it is a movement for the relief of the suffering from the Russian war.

More people are guilty of the sin of ingratitude than any other. Rev. Herman G. Porter, of the First Methodist church, says that ingratitude is a sin that is committed by many people, and that it is a sin that is a danger to the country.

To confess a sin is to strengthen it. Gratitude expressed is gratitude confirmed. Rev. E. L. Overstreet, of the First Presbyterian church, says that gratitude is a virtue that is essential to the life of a Christian, and that it is a virtue that is a danger to the country.

When God made the axe swim for Elisha, he proved his interest in every day difficulties. Has he made iron to swim for us? Rev. E. H. Combs, of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, says that God is interested in the life of every man, and that he is a God who is a God of mercy.

A merely moral life has no saving value. Even burning lamps will go out on the final day if not filled with the oil of faith. Rev. P. G. Birkmann, of the Zion Lutheran church, says that a life that is based upon morality alone is a life that is a life of death, and that it is a life that is a life of death.

Our Thanksgiving, individually, can only be, not for the things that have come to us, but for the use we have made of them, and, nationally, not for material progress, but for progress toward manhood and womanhood. Rev. Miles Hanson, of the First Congregational church, says that Thanksgiving is a time when we should thank God for the things that he has done for us, and that it is a time when we should thank God for the things that he has done for us.

In the affairs of this life, men generally recognize and act upon the importance of opportunity. Our text today announces an opportunity as superior to every other as the immortal soul is superior to the body, as eternity is superior to time, as heaven is superior to earth. Rev. H. P. Bond, of the East El Paso Methodist church, says that opportunity is a gift from God, and that it is a gift that is a gift from God.

WOMAN FINED $200
IN TELEPHONE CASE
Miss H. C. McNair, alias Mrs. Grace Hunter, who was arrested Friday by the city detectives, following the robbery of the Tri-State Telephone company booth, was fined $200 Saturday afternoon by Judge Adrian Pool in the corporation court. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and threw herself on the mercy of the court. The key, which it was said was used in opening the toll booth, was introduced in evidence. The woman testified that a man by the name of Earl Wesley gave her the key in San Antonio, Texas. J. Smith, who was arrested on the same charge, was also fined $200. He testified that he had known the woman at Houston, Texas, where she was a waitress at Hotel Bristol.

To Those That
Laugh at a
Drunken Man

How often have you seen a drunken man stagger along the street?

His clothes are soiled from falling, his face is bruised, his eyes are dull. Sometimes he curses the boys that tease him. Sometimes he tries to smile, in a drunken effort, to placate a pitiless, childish cruelty.

His body, worn out, will stand no more and he mumbles that he is

GOING HOME

The children persecute him, throw stones at him, running ahead of him. That drunkard is

GOING HOME

He is going home to children that are afraid of him, to a wife, whose life he has made miserable.

He is going home, taking with him the worst curse in the world—to suffer bitter remorse himself after having inflicted suffering on those he should protect.

YOU may not be a drink victim but you may have a relative or a dear friend who is.

Tell them about the

your influence counts and the result will bring you your reward.

THE "NEAL" CURES
THE DRINK HABIT
IN THREE DAYS

"It is," as Dr. McAllister of Ottawa, Canada, says, "a medical wonder and should have the co-operation of all good people."

"Every afflicted person and those interested," says Hon. Larabee, Ex-Governor of Iowa, "should investigate the Neal treatment and without delay take advantage of the opportunity offered."

The Neal THREE DAY Drink Habit Treatment is administered in El Paso at its handsomely appointed Institute, 315 Mesa Avenue.

EVERY CASE—No matter of how long standing—IS CURABLE, and in just THREE DAYS.

The "NEAL" is a harmless treatment, administered internally—no hypodermic injections.

SCRIPTURE

I Kings 17 8-16

And the word of the Lord came unto him (Elijah), saying:
Arise, get thee to Zarephath, which belongeth to Zidon, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded a widow woman there to sustain thee.

So he arose and went to Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow woman was there gathering of sticks; and he called to her, and said, fetch me a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.

And as she was going to fetch it, he called to her, and said, bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand.

And she said, as the Lord thy God liveth I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruse; and behold, I am gathering two sticks, that I may go in and dress for me and my son, that we may eat it and live.

And Elijah said unto her, fear not; go and do as thou hast said; but make me thereof a little cake first, and bring it unto me, and after make for thee and for thy son.

For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, the barrel of meal shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail, until the day that the Lord sendeth rain upon the earth.

And she went and did according to the saying of Elijah; and she and he, and her house did eat many days.

And the barrel of meal wasted not, neither did the cruse of oil fail, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by Elijah.
